Customer Reviews

This book has such an anointing, such a healing effect. I could not put it down. The more I read, the more I wanted to read. It had such an impact on my spirit--it spoke to my heart. As Christian women, it is not always easy for us to admit our real life struggles and issues--to take off our masks.

Prophetess Bynum was so real with her testimony and so encouraging in her victory that I had to read it again. I have given copies of the book to other women and their report is the same as mine. They read it more than once. This book shows the balance between sacrifice and victory; between loss and reward. Truly the gain is far greater than the pain we experience when we cut ourselves off from harmful relationships. As women we tend to invest so much in people and relationships that we find it hard to accept the loss because of the "big" investments that we made. The truth is if you carry too much baggage; you'll never get to your final destination. I would like to see the author develop a Bible study guide for women to go along with this book.

I'm a big fan of Juanita Bynum. Reading this book was a blessing to me. It has helped me deal with a lot of issues in my life and I'm thankful to Juanita. This book shows that prayer, faith and discipline are the keys to changes. I also loved this book so much because Juanita stresses that you have to stay focused. The devil is a liar. Be Blessed!

Prophetess Bynum imparted so many truths through this book. In it, she helps you to understand first and foremost that you have a destiny in God. She exposes circumstances in which the enemy would desire for you to give up and "get off of the train". She uses biblical examples of people who did not get off the train, although they had difficulties throughout the journey and how God eventually blesses them for their faithfulness. The added punch is that everything that you experience is preparation for where God is taking you. This book is dynamic. I read it and will read it again. It is powerful!!

Don't Get Off the Train- is a fantastic book. The analogy of your spiritual journey to the train gives an insight of things we don't think about on a daily basis. I take the train and I know what it is like to get off at the wrong depot. There is the feeling of being lost or the aggravation of waiting for the next train. In the mist of it all you're sitting there thinking "I can't believe I got off here" and the same happens in the spiritual realm. I find myself saying "I can't believe I did that" Or "I wish I would have waited!" Well for those of us who need a little direction from the conductors'(Jesus) assistant(Juanita) I encourage you to run out and get this dynamic book. While you are riding the natural and spiritual train- you should definitely read "Don't Get Off the Train!!!!"-Affrika Andrews

Excellent. Thought provoking. I recommend this book to those who are on that rollercoaster ride to carrying out their Spiritual purpose. Several chapters are particularly detailed for our single sisters.

This book magnifies those things/people we allow to hinder our journey and re-direct our paths. It stresses the importance of staying focused. Read it and pass it on to someone else. I have.

One thing that I have learned is you have got to invest in yourself, and this book is a great investment. You will want to read it over and over again, because it is a blessing to your soul. After reading it, you will take a closer look at the people around you. Are they depositing something positive in you or are they trying to get you off track?? Juanita Bynum also shares personal experiences in this book. SHE IS JUST REAL!!! Again, three words.....BUY THIS BOOK!!!

This book is designed to encourage you to push forward to your divine destiny and do not settle for less along the way. On page 9 she writes, "We have not even scratched the surface of where God's going to take those of us who are willing to go somewhere." She uses David to illustrate the importance of filling one's mouth with praise and worship instead of negatives. On overcoming circumstances and emotions, she adds, "I'm not moved by what I see, and I don't operate on what I feel" (p. 12). She spends several pages talking about divine appointments. God's timing is also included in the explanation given. She notes, "God has a preset time for you to arrive at this place" (p. 36). The season of preparation is described. Again, she uses David to illustrate that he experienced certain victories before he encountered and overcame Goliath. On promotion she writes, "Stop trying to promote yourself. Just devote your whole heart to God" (p. 73). Promotion doesn't come from the east, west, north, or south. It comes from God.

This book is yet another one of Juanita Bynum's little GEMS. She has truly been anointed and I've been blessed in reading this book. This book has allowed me to see how many times I've gotten off track. The words are simply put for your understanding for anyone reading this book. I'm sure we finally realize what the hold up was in reaching our final destination. Thank You Sister Bynum for another remarkable book. Allowing us to know that Prayer, Faith, Belief and Discipline changes things! Peace!
